Considering the fact of the hard nature of land (salty, sandy dry dessert), weather (extremely hot or cold with rapid sandy air), non-existence of natural water and the salty water from wells and some other reasons which prevent agriculture in Kuwait.

Desiring to develop agricultural programmes to produce a small portion of the country's needs of food and create a source of living to people in remote areas, was the need to an agricultural sector as an element of food security program to face a very small portion of needs of the country, leaving the rest of these needs to be covered by imports. Kuwait is a net importer country in agricultural products.

Its incentive programmes in agricultural should be considered in the context of this criteria.

List of domestic support measure which are not subject to reductions according to Article 6.2 and Annex 2 of the Agreement are shown in supporting table 1, and supporting table 2.
